More cool improvements to the website

As you know, we work very hard to make ListInventory very easy to use for all of our customers. We have been adding improvements to make upload and import of your files easier. The import of Excel workbooks is finally here. This modification allows you to upload straight from Excel and not have to save your inventory files as tab-delimited or CSV formats.

We do, however, need a copy of your Excel file to be able to set the column configuration in our database so the system understands where each column of information is in your file. If you intend to upload Excel workbooks, please email a copy at help@listinventory.com and let us know that you want to upload Excel files.

The import supports Excel versions 2007 and below. However, it does not import multiple worksheets from the workbook; it handles only one worksheet per workbook. We will add multiple worksheet features at a later date.

Another improvement that has been added is the capability to append uploads to your current inventory. This allows you to take several smaller inventory files and upload them all. This means that, if you have 2 files, and you upload them both, they will both be imported and your inventory will now show the data from both files you imported.

In order to append your upload to your current inventory, make sure you check the Add to current Inventory checkbox BEFORE clicking the Upload button.

Add to current Inventory:

(Check above if you want to keep your current inventory and add the items in this upload file to it)

Currently you must upload each file separately, however, we are looking into handling multiple file upload and append. This would allow you to upload all your files at once vs. having to do them one by one.

Growth

Do you have your inventory listed here at listinventory.com? In the last six months, the listinventory.com membership as well as the listed inventory has more than doubled! All of this has happened, even on an entirely free website. The web traffic to the site has more than tripled. People are searching for things listed on listinventory.com. Our newsletter subscriber list is very large, so people know we are here.

Donate or Advertise!

Adding all these features and making things easier for you to list your inventory is not cheap. A small donation via PayPal would really go a long way to helping keep listinventory.com free and keep the improvements coming.

Also, you can also advertise with us, we will run a Flash banner in our header for anyone that purchases and advertising agreement at $100 per month or $1000 per year.

If you would like to be featured in our newsletter or if you have any ideas to help us improve, please feel free to send us an email at help@listinventory.com.
